Hotel Management System — Staff and Branch Manager Guide

This guide explains the staff and branch-manager interface. Menus and actions depend on the signed-in role and branch. Use only actions available to your account. The screenshots in this guide are from the English interface and are kept separate from the Vietnamese screenshots in USER_GUIDE_VI.md.

Each section names the screen to open and the actions performed there. Bold menu names match the navigation labels; screenshots below each section show the referenced pages or dialogs.

> Before sharing: screenshots may show sample guest, employee, booking, or payment information. Review and redact personal or financial details before publishing this guide outside the hotel team.

14 Troubleshooting and safe operation

1. Sign in, language, and navigation

Screen and actions: Use the Sign in screen to enter the system. After signing in, use the left navigation to open a page, the top bar to switch language, and the account card at the bottom of the sidebar to sign out.

1. Sign in with the staff or manager account provided to you. Verify the branch shown in the sidebar before changing records.
2. Use the left navigation to open a module. Expand a menu item with a chevron to see its pages; use the menu button on smaller screens.
3. Select English in the top bar to use the English interface. The language switch changes interface labels, not names, notes, or other text entered by users.
4. A missing menu may mean that your role does not have access. Ask a manager to confirm your role instead of using another person's account.
5. Sign out after work, especially on a shared device.

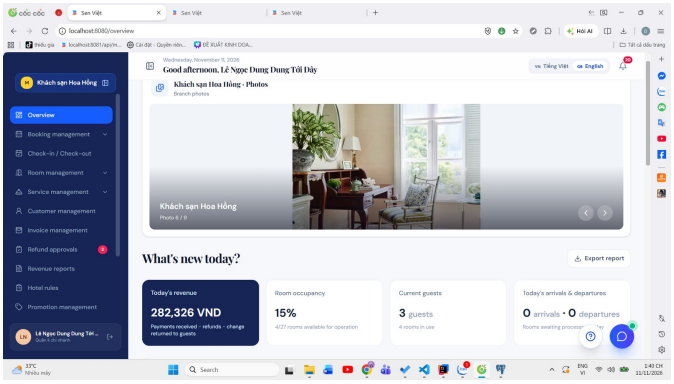

2. Overview and reports

Overview

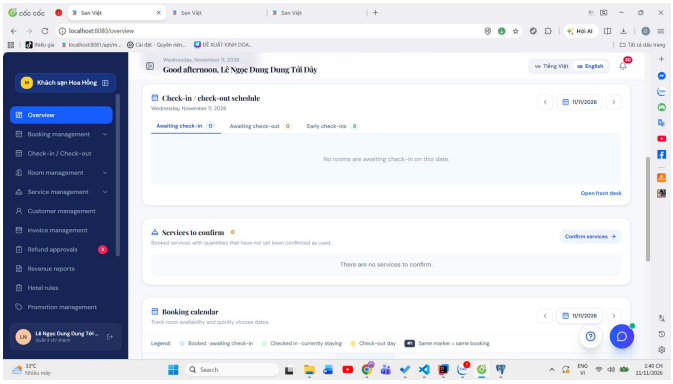

The Overview page is for monitoring, not a substitute for checking a booking's full record.

Screen and actions: Sidebar → Overview. The summary cards, arrival/departure schedule, and services-awaiting-confirmation list are on this page; open the relevant module to complete a transaction.

1. Open Overview and review the summary cards for current branch activity.
2. Check the selected date, then use the date controls to move to another day or return to today.
3. Select the arrival, departure, or early check-in list to find the relevant booking.
4. Open a row only after checking the guest and room. Continue the transaction in Check-in / Check-out or Booking management.
5. In services awaiting confirmation, verify the booked service and quantity against actual use before confirming it.

Revenue reports

Screen and actions: Sidebar → Revenue reports. Choose the reporting period in the top filter, then review the report tabs/tables.

1. Open Revenue reports and choose the reporting period before interpreting totals.
2. Review the available summary, room, service, promotion, booking-status, and cancellation breakdowns.
3. Use the report tabs/filters to compare categories. If the range is wrong or data is still loading, correct the filter or reload before exporting or sharing results.
4. Reconcile a discrepancy against the underlying bookings and invoices; do not treat a blank or failed report as zero.

3. Create and find bookings

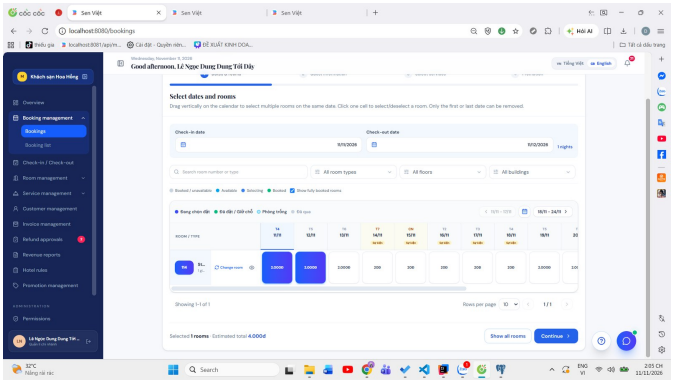

Create a booking

Screen and actions: Booking management → Bookings → New booking. The form proceeds through Dates & rooms → Booking information → Services → Promotion/summary.

1. Open Booking management → Bookings and choose New booking.
2. In the date-and-room step, select check-in and then check-out. Confirm the night count and use the calendar legend to distinguish available rooms from unavailable ones.
3. Search or filter by room type, floor, or building. Select the required available room cells; click a selected cell again to remove it. For multiple rooms, check every room and date before continuing.
4. Find an existing customer or enter the guest information requested by the form. Verify the selected profile, contact details, guest counts per room, capacity, and any displayed surcharge.
5. Choose services for all rooms or configure them room by room. Check the unit, quantity, room assignment, and estimated charge. Leave unrequested services unselected.
6. Search for a promotion or enter a code. Open its details to check its scope, minimum spend, validity, and status before applying it.
7. Review the final guest, rooms, dates, services, promotion, and total. Submit once and wait for confirmation; record the booking reference.

Find and review an existing booking

Screen and actions: Booking management → Booking list. Search the table, then select the row/details action to open the booking record and payment history.

1. Open Booking management → Booking list. Search and filter by the available booking, guest, date, and status fields.
2. Verify the booking reference, guest, dates, rooms, payment status, and total before opening or editing it.
3. Use the booking details and payment history to reconcile amounts. Use edit actions only while the booking is in a state that permits the requested change.
4. After saving, reopen or refresh the record and verify the resulting status and values.

4. Edit a booking and add services

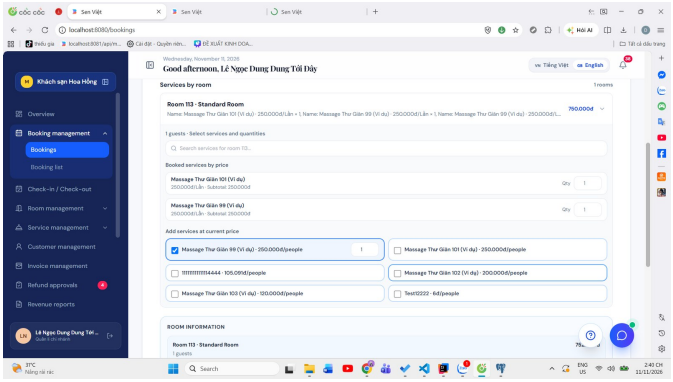

Use this workflow when a guest asks to add a service to an existing booking. It is separate from adding a service to the general service catalog.

Screen and actions: Booking management → Booking list → select the booking → Edit. In the edit form, use Add services to selected rooms; Update saves the booking changes.

1. In Booking list, find the correct booking and open its edit action. Confirm the booking reference and guest before changing anything.
2. Review the rooms and existing services. The service editor applies additions to active rooms; cancelled or inactive rooms cannot be used for new service selections.
3. In Add services to selected rooms, open the relevant room and select the requested service. Set the quantity for that room and check the displayed unit and price.
4. Repeat for each applicable room. Do not select the same service for every room unless the guest requested it for every room.
5. Review the existing quantities and new selections. Remove accidental selections and confirm the affected room and quantity.
6. Select Update once, wait for the save result, then reopen the booking to verify the service and quantity were recorded.
7. Explain any resulting charge to the guest and check the updated invoice/payment balance through the normal branch process.

5. Cancel a booking and refund the guest

Cancellation changes a booking and may create a refund. Check the hotel's policy and the guest's payment before confirming.

Screen and actions: Booking management → Booking list → Cancel booking opens the cancellation dialog. Review the Preview, choose cash/bank under Refund method, then enter any reason/email and confirm in the same dialog. Bank details can also be added later in Refund approvals.

1 In Booking list, find and verify the booking. The staff cancellation action is available only for bookings in Pending or Confirmed status.

2 Choose Cancel booking. Wait for the refund preview; it is calculated from the payment and cancellation policy.

3 Review the amount paid, room amount, room penalty, room refund, service refund, total refund, policy tier, and time remaining until check-in. If the preview fails or is missing, retry; do not confirm cancellation without a valid preview.

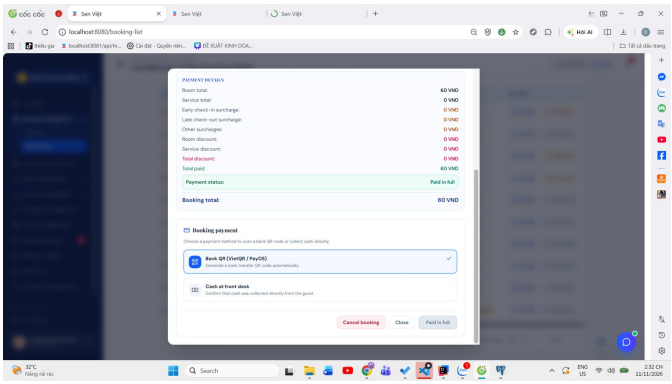

4 The preview applies these room-penalty tiers: cancellation at least 72 hours before check-in has no room penalty; 24 to under 72 hours has a 50% penalty on the allocated room payment; under 24 hours or no-show has a 100% penalty on the allocated room payment. The service refund is calculated from its allocated payment; the room penalty is deducted from the room portion.

5 Select the refund method:

- Cash at hotel: hand the displayed amount to the guest, then check the confirmation that it was actually handed over. A cash refund is recorded immediately when cancellation is confirmed.
- Refund to bank account: select the bank and enter the account holder and account number if available. Bank details are optional at cancellation and can be added later in Refund approvals. If entered here, provide all required account fields; the account number must contain 6–50 digits. A bank refund waits for manager approval and transfer.

6 Optionally enter a cancellation reason and guest notification email. Check the email spelling if provided.

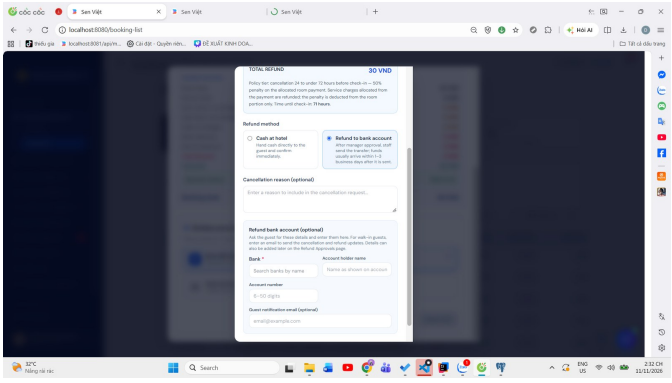

7 Confirm cancellation once. Verify the success message and the new booking/refund status. For bank refunds, cancellation does not mean the transfer has already been sent; follow the approval workflow in section 12.

6. Check-in, check-out, and surplus refunds

Screen and actions: Sidebar → Check-in / Check-out. Select the check-in or check-out tab and open a booking to review each room; choose the surplus-refund method in the checkout confirmation form. For batch actions, use the checkboxes in the list.

1 Open Check-in / Check-out, select the correct date and the check-in or check-out view, then search for the booking.

2 Open the booking and verify its reference, guest, room, stay dates, guest count, payment state, and any early/late-stay charges.

3 For check-in, explain any applicable early-arrival charge and confirm the room and payment details before completing the action.

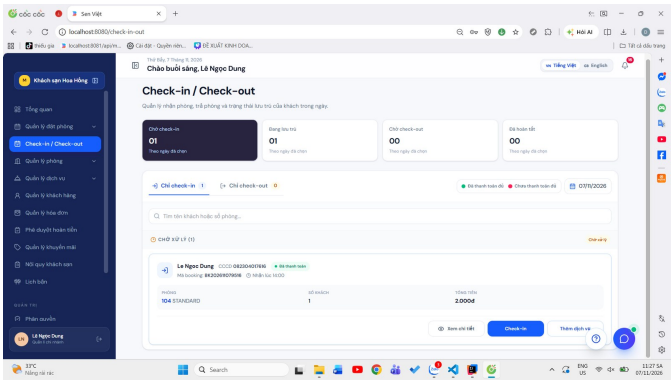

4 For check-out, check each room and service against actual use. Do not mark an unused service as consumed. Review late check-out charges and the final amount.

5 If a surplus payment must be refunded, choose Cash or Bank transfer in the refund-choice section:

- For cash, return the amount to the guest at the desk and confirm the actual handover.
- For bank transfer, select the bank and enter the account holder and account number. These fields are required for this checkout bank-refund flow; verify them with the guest before continuing.

6 Recheck the refund amount and booking/room selection, then complete check-out once. A bank refund remains subject to manager approval and transfer in Refund approvals.

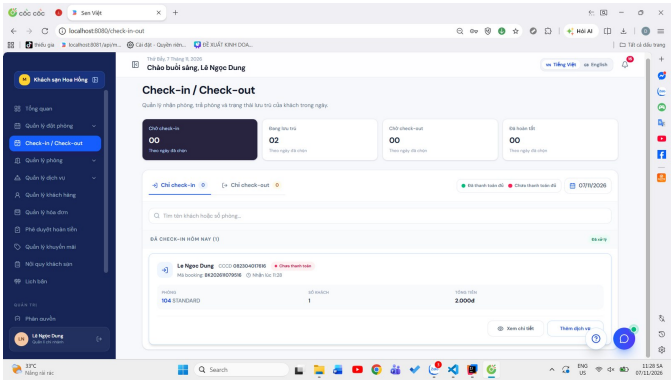

7 For group or batch check-out, review the selected rooms individually. A bulk action applies to the selected records, so remove any unintended selection before confirming.

2 Open the correct room to review its details, capacity, amenities, images, and current status.

3 Add or edit a room only if authorized. Check room number, type, building/floor, and capacity before saving.

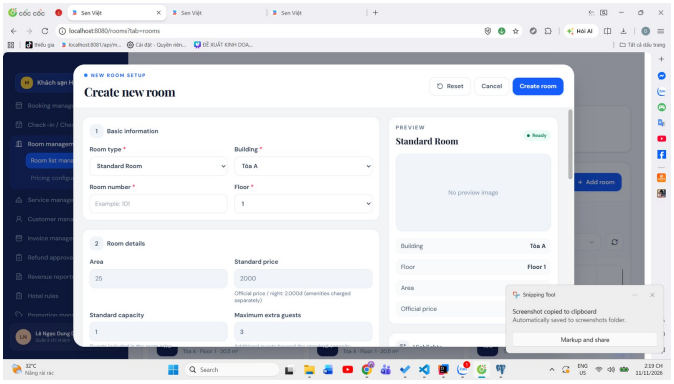

4 Use the room status that reflects the real situation. Do not mark a room ready until cleaning or inspection is complete.

1 Select the Pricing by event tab to review pricing rules. Use search, date, status, or room-type filters to find an event.

2 Select Create pricing event. Enter the event name and the exact start and end dates.

3 In each pricing group, select the room types it covers and enter the applicable room price (VND) for that group. Verify that every intended room type is assigned to the correct group.

4 Save only after reviewing the name, date range, room types, and prices in every group. Find the event in the table to verify its status, validity period, and prices.

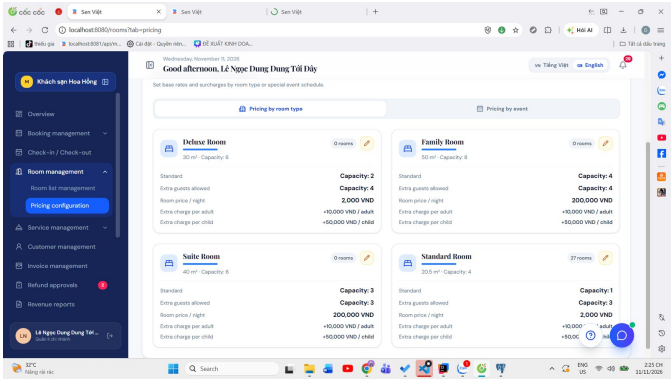

Buildings and floors

Screen and actions: Room management → Room list → Buildings or Floors tab. Add/edit opens the corresponding form; Excel/CSV import is in the floors tab.

1 In Room list management, open the Buildings tab to search, add, or edit a building. When adding, enter its name; the building code is generated after saving.

2 Open Floors, select the correct building, and add each floor as a positive whole number.

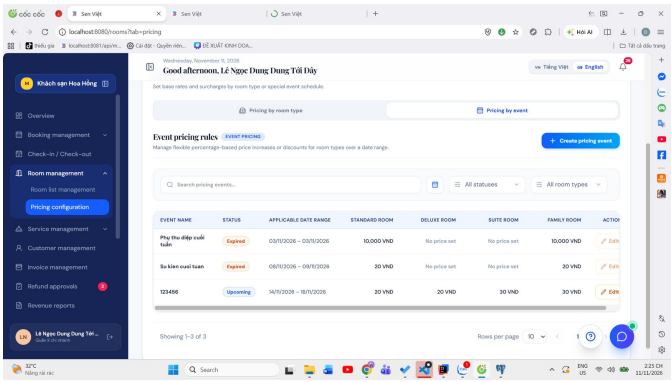

3 For Excel/CSV import, download the template and provide the building (it may be blank to use the selected building) and floor numbers. Existing duplicate floors are skipped; review the floor list after import.

12. Refund approvals

Screen and actions: Sidebar → Refund approvals. Select a request in the queue to open its details; add bank details, approve/reject, and verify status on this screen.

1 Open Refund approvals and review the pending queue. Open a request and verify its booking, guest, amount, refund method, reason, and bank details.

2 For bank refunds, confirm the account details with the guest before approving. If details are missing or incorrect, use the available action to request or enter the correct details; do not approve an unverified destination.

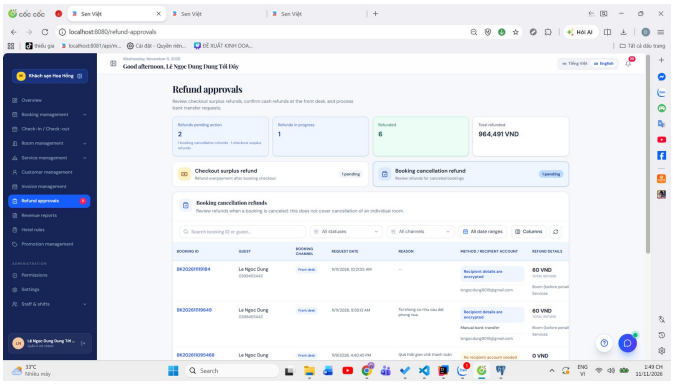

3 Approve or reject only if your role allows it and the request matches policy. Record/perform the transfer through the hotel's authorized process.

4 Verify the resulting status. A bank refund is complete only after the approval/transfer process is recorded; do not tell a guest the funds have arrived before confirmation.

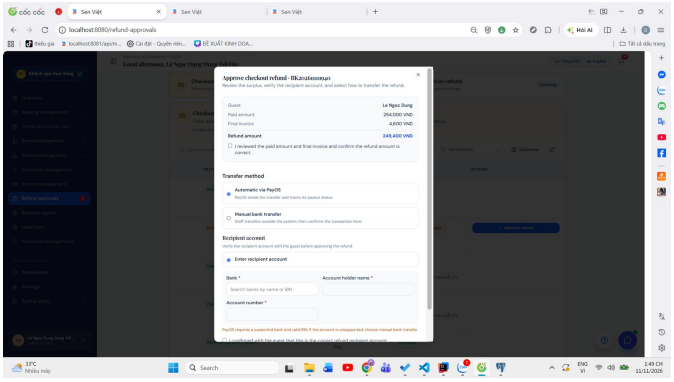

5 Cash-refund requests should be reconciled with the actual handover and the system's recorded status.

Screen and actions: Use Role management to review/edit roles and Permissions to inspect access by role. These are separate screens in the administration area.

Use Role management to review or maintain roles only if authorized. In Permissions, inspect the role and its available access. Ask an administrator to change access when a menu or action is unavailable; never bypass access controls.

14. Troubleshooting and safe operation

Screen and actions: Check the page where the issue occurred (Booking list, Check-in / Check-out, Refund approvals, or Service catalog). If a menu/action is missing, review access in Permissions with a manager.

- A booking or room is missing: check the selected branch, date, tab, search terms, and filters; clear filters and reload before assuming the record does not exist.
- A refund preview or amount is unavailable: retry the preview. Do not cancel or check out with an unverified amount.
- A bank refund cannot continue: verify the bank, account holder, and account number with the guest. Cancellation can be completed with bank details added later where the screen allows it; checkout requires its displayed bank details before submission.
- A service is missing or has the wrong quantity: verify the active room and service catalog, then reopen the booking. Do not confirm more usage than the guest received.
- A save appears to be taking a long time: wait for the result and check the record before submitting again, to avoid duplicate actions.
- A menu or button is unavailable: ask a manager to confirm permissions.
- Before any action affecting money, bookings, rooms, or employee schedules, verify the record and values one final time.
